Report on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Vermont ETV, Inc. (a nonprofit corporation), which comprise the statements of financial position as of June 30, 2021 and 2020, and the related statements of activities, functional expenses, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting principles used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Vermont ETV, Inc. as of June 30, 2021 and 2020, and the changes in its net assets, its functional expenses, and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Emphasis of Matter

3. Revenue recognition

Contracts with customers

Effective July 1, 2020, the Corporation adopted new revenue recognition guidance which provides a single framework under which revenue from contracts with customers is required to be recognized. The adoption of this guidance did not result in any significant impact to the financial statements. Revenues from contracts with customers is recognized when control of the promised goods or services is transferred to customers, in an amount that reflects the consideration expected to be received in exchange for those goods and services.

Contributions and promises to give

Support includes program grants, program and production underwriting and membership contributions from individual members. The fair value of the membership to the member is de minimis; therefore, membership contributions are recognized upon receipt.

The Corporation accounts for contributions and promises to give under Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 958 Not-For-Profit Entities. Contributions received (including corporate underwriting agreements) are recorded as contributions with or without restriction, depending on the existence and/or nature of any donor restrictions. Contributions are recognized when the donor makes a promise to give to the Corporation that is, in substance, unconditional. Contributions that are restricted by the donor are reported as increases in net assets without restriction if the restrictions expire in the fiscal year in which the contributions are recognized.

Non-operating grants

Gifts of land, buildings, and equipment are presented as unrestricted support unless explicit donor stipulations specify how the donated assets must be used. Gifts of long-lived assets with explicit restrictions that specify how the assets are to be used and gifts of cash or other assets that must be used to acquire or construct long-lived assets are reported as donor-restricted support. Absent explicit donor stipulations about how long those long-lived assets must be maintained, the Corporation reports expirations of donor restrictions when the donated, acquired, or constructed long-lived assets are placed in service.

3. Revenue recognition (continued)

License and lease revenue

The Corporation leases and licenses building and tower space, as well as capacity on a non-broadcast spectrum to lessees and licensees. Revenues associated with these agreements are recorded as license and lease revenue during the period covered. Payments received in advance are recorded as deferred revenue.

4. Contributed materials and services

Materials contributed to the Corporation for resale or for use in operations are recorded at fair value as contributions in the period received. Contributed services must either create or enhance nonfinancial assets of the Corporation and require a specialized skill that the Corporation would otherwise need to purchase in order to be recognized and recorded in the financial statements. Qualified contributed services are recorded at their fair value during the period in which the service is received. The value of contributed materials, services, and equipment meeting the criteria for recognition in the financial statements was approximately $26,000 in 2021 and $40,000 in 2020.

5. Receivables

Receivables are stated at the amount the Corporation expects to collect. The Corporation maintains allowances for doubtful accounts for estimated losses resulting from the inability of its customers to make required payments and donors and grantors to make promised payments. Management considers the following factors when determining the collectability of specific accounts: customer, donor, and grantor creditworthiness, past transaction history with the individual, current economic industry trends, and changes in payment terms. If the financial condition of the Corporation's customers, donors, or grantors were to deteriorate, adversely affecting their ability to make payments, additional allowances would be required. Based on management's assessment, the Corporation provides for estimated uncollectible amounts through a charge to operations and a credit to a valuation allowance. Balances that remain outstanding after the Corporation has used reasonable collection efforts are written off through a charge to the valuation allowance and a credit to the related receivable. The allowance for doubtful accounts was not material at June 30, 2021 and 2020.

Pledges and grants receivable are stated at the amount the Corporation expects to collect. Pledges and grants receivable totaled $302,460 and $715,672 at June 30, 2021 and 2020, respectively, of which approximately $100,000 were expected to be collected outside of one year at June 30, 2020.

6. Fair value measurements

Under the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) authoritative guidance on fair value measurements, fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. In determining fair value, the Corporation uses various methods including market, income, and cost approaches. Based on these approaches, the Corporation often utilizes certain assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability, including assumptions about risk and or the risks inherent in the inputs to the valuation technique.

These inputs can be readily observable, market corroborated, or generally unobservable inputs. The Corporation utilizes valuation techniques that maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

Based on the observability of the inputs used in the valuation techniques the Corporation is required to provide the following information according to the fair value hierarchy. The fair value hierarchy ranks the quality and reliability of the information used to determine fair values. Financial assets and liabilities carried at fair value will be classified and disclosed in one of the following three categories:

- Level 1: Quoted prices for identical assets and liabilities traded in active exchange markets, such as the New York Stock Exchange.
- Level 2: Observable inputs other than Level 1 including quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities, quoted prices in less active markets, or other observable inputs that can be corroborated by observable market data. Level 2 also includes derivative contracts whose value is determined using a pricing model with observable market inputs or can be derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data.
- Level 3: Unobservable inputs supported by little or no market activity for financial instruments whose value is determined using pricing models, discounted cash flow methodologies, or similar techniques, as well as instruments for which the determination of fair value requires significant management judgment or estimation; also includes observable inputs for nonbinding single dealer quotes not corroborated by observable market data.

6. Fair value measurements (continued)

The Corporation has various processes and controls in place to ensure that fair value is reasonably estimated. The Corporation performs due diligence procedures over third-party pricing service providers in order to support their use in the valuation process. Where market information is not available to support internal valuations, independent reviews of the valuations are performed and any material exposures are escalated through a management review process.

During the years ended June 30, 2021 and 2020, there were no changes to the Corporation's valuation techniques that had, or are expected to have, a material impact on its financial position or change in net assets.

The following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for instruments measured at fair value:

Equity and other securities

Valued at the daily closing price as reported by the fund. Equity and other securities held by the Corporation are open-end mutual funds and exchange-traded closed-end funds that are registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The mutual funds are required to publish their daily net asset value (NAV) and to transact at that price. The exchange-traded closed-end funds transact at the price valued on the New York Stock Exchange or similar active market. The equity and other securities held by the Corporation are deemed to be actively traded.

Corporate and municipal bonds

Valued using pricing models maximizing the use of observable inputs for similar securities. This includes basing value on yields currently available on comparable securities of issuers with similar credit ratings. When quoted prices are not available for identical or similar bonds, the bond is valued under a discounted cash flows approach that maximizes observable inputs, such as current yields of similar instruments, but includes adjustments for certain risks that may not be observable, such as credit and liquidity risks or a broker quote if available.

U.S. government securities and asset-backed securities

Valued using pricing models maximizing the use of observable inputs for similar securities. The U.S. government securities and asset backed securities held by the Corporation are deemed to be actively traded.

The preceding methods described may produce a fair value calculation that may not be indicative of net realizable value or reflective of future fair values. Furthermore, although the Corporation believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies or assumptions to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different fair value measurement at the reporting date.

7. Investments and investment income

Investments are recorded at fair value in the statement of financial position with changes in fair value during the period included in increases (decreases) in net assets. Amounts included in the statement of financial position as long-term investments are designated by the board for noncurrent purposes.

Gains and investment income that are restricted by the donor are reported as increases in unrestricted net assets if the restrictions expire in the fiscal year in which the gains and investment income are recognized.

8. Property and equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost or, if acquired by a gift, at the fair market value at the date of the gift. Costs meeting the criteria for capitalization for self-constructed assets are capitalized and recorded at cost. Salaries and wages capitalized as part of the cost of the related assets were approximately $0 in 2021 and $247,000 in 2020. The Corporation provides for depreciation on a straight-line basis over the assets estimated useful lives.

9. Impairment of long-lived assets

Long-lived assets, such as property and equipment, are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. Recoverability of assets to be held and used is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of an asset to estimated undiscounted future cash flows. An impairment charge is recognized in the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset exceeds the fair value of the asset.

10. Income taxes – other accrued expenses

The Corporation qualifies as a tax-exempt, not-for-profit organization under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. The Corporation is, however, subject to federal and state income tax on net unrelated business income from certain leasing activities as defined in the applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. The Corporation's provision for unrelated business income taxes is not material in 2021 and 2020.

The accounting standard on accounting for uncertainty in income taxes addresses the determination of whether tax benefits claimed or expected to be claimed on a tax return should be recorded in the financial statements. Under this guidance, the Corporation may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more-likely-than-not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by taxing authorities, based on the technical merits of the position. The tax benefits recognized in the financial statements from such a position are measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than 50% likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. The Corporation has recognized a liability for potential additional income taxes payable and associated penalties and interest, which are included with other accrued expenses – non-current portion in the amount of approximately $455,000 at June 30, 2021 and 2020. The Corporation's provision for unrelated business income taxes amounts, interest and penalties associated with unrecognized tax benefits is not material in 2021 and 2020.

With few exceptions, the Corporation is no longer subject to U.S. federal income tax examinations by tax authorities for years before the year ended June 30, 2018.

11. Net assets

In accordance with ASC Topic 958 Not-For-Profit Entities, the Corporation reports information regarding its financial position and activities, depending upon the existence or absence of donor restrictions and in accordance with the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act of 2006 (UPMIFA) as adopted by the State of Vermont.

The Board has established four Board designated funds: the Frank & Peggy Taplin Fund, Wyant Fund, Board Designated Fund, and Spectrum Fund. The funds in these accounts are available first to satisfy obligations of the Corporation, then for purposes designated by the Board of Directors.

Return objective and risk parameters

The primary investment objectives of the Frank & Peggy Taplin Fund, Wyant Fund, and Board Designated Fund are safety, return on investment, liquidity, diversification, and cost control. This objective is to be achieved in a manner consistent with prudent risk-taking and will be reviewed and may be revised as the investment environment changes, with the understanding that total return during any single period may deviate from the long-term objective.

The primary investment objective of the Spectrum Fund is to maintain the purchasing power of the assets by generating a return, net of fees, that meets or exceeds the rate of inflation plus the rate of spending over five-year rolling periods. This objective is to be achieved in a manner consistent with prudent risk-taking and will be reviewed and may be revised as the investment environment changes, with the understanding that total return during any single period may deviate from the long-term objective.

Strategies employed for achieving objectives

Management of the investment portfolios is accomplished through an authorized financial dealer or institution approved by the Corporation's Board of Directors. Investment activities are subject to the approval of the Corporation's Corporate Treasurer acting through the Corporation's Board of Directors and are reviewed regularly by the Finance Committee of the Board. Investments are diversified by investment category within ranges approved by the Board.

Short-term funds shall be issues of high-quality that are readily marketable. Venture capital funds, letter stocks, junk bonds and real estate properties are not permissible. Investments in real estate investment trusts are permissible. The use of mutual funds is highly encouraged.

12. Measure of operations

The statements of activities report all changes in net assets, including changes in net assets from “operating activities” and “non-operating activities.” Operating activities include operating contributions consisting of program grants, license and lease revenues, and program expenses and supporting activities. Non-operating activities are limited to return on investments, contributions restricted for long-term capital expenditure or investment, and other activities considered to be not material to operations or that are unusual or nonrecurring in nature.

13. Functional expenses and allocation of shared costs

Expenses are charged to program and supporting services based on direct expenses incurred and allocations of common expenses. Common costs are allocated to program and supporting services based upon related estimated utilization. Specifically, employee benefits are allocated based on relative salaries and wages and occupancy costs based on relative square footage utilized in the activity.

14. Use of estimates

In preparing financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

15. Recently issued accounting pronouncement

Leases

In February 2016, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2016-02, Leases (Topic 842). This ASU was issued in three parts: (a) Section A, Leases: Amendments to the FASB Accounting Standards Codification, (b) Section B, Conforming Amendments Related to Leases: Amendments to the FASB Accounting Standards Codification, and (c) Section C, Background Information and Basis for Conclusions. While both lessees and lessors are affected by the new guidance which includes many changes, the effects on lessees are much more significant. The most significant change for lessees is the requirement to recognize right-of-use assets and lease liabilities for all leases not considered short-term leases, affecting leases which previously were accounted for as operating leases. This ASU is effective for years beginning after December 15, 2021, and must be implemented using a modified retrospective approach. The Corporation is currently evaluating the impact of adopting this accounting standard on its financial statements.

16. Evaluation of subsequent events

In preparing these financial statements, the Corporation has evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through December 10, 2021, the date the financial statements were available to be issued.

B) SIGNIFICANT RISK - PANDEMIC

On January 30, 2020, the World Health Organization (WHO) declared the coronavirus outbreak a Public Health Emergency of International Concern, and on March 10, 2020, WHO declared it to be a pandemic. Actions taken around the world to help mitigate the spread of the coronavirus include restrictions on travel, quarantines in certain areas, and forced closures for certain types of public places and businesses. The coronavirus (COVID-19) and actions taken to mitigate it have had, and are expected to continue to have, an adverse impact on the economies and financial markets of many countries, including the geographical areas in which the Corporation operates. While it is unknown how long these conditions will last and what the complete financial effect will be on the Corporation, to date, the Corporation's activities have not been negatively impacted, however, we are unable to predict what the impact may be in the future as a result of the pandemic.

C) AVAILABILITY AND LIQUIDITY

The following reflects the Corporation's financial assets that are estimated to be available to meet general expenditure needs within one year as of June 30:

C) AVAILABILITY AND LIQUIDITY (continued)

As part of the Corporation's liquidity management process, the Corporation structures its financial assets to be available as general and program expenditures, liabilities, and other obligations become due. The Corporation's investments include general investments and board-designated funds that are not subject to donor restrictions. The Board has approved $2,000,000 of appropriations to pay for 2022 operating expenses and capital expenditures from board designated investments, which total approximately $55,046,000 at June 30, 2021 (see Note K). Should an unforeseen need arise, approximately $53,046,000 would be available to draw upon with Board approval. In addition to these financial assets, the Corporation's history demonstrates a consistent pattern of raising support from the general public and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (see Note M), thus operations and resulting cash flows are budgeted assuming certain levels of ongoing support, the actual results of which are monitored throughout the year. Additionally, the Corporation has a $350,000 line of credit available to meet cash flow needs (see Note F).

D) INVESTMENTS

Investments consist of amounts that have been board designated (see Note K), which are included in non-current assets, and undesignated amounts, which are included in current assets as investments available for operations in the accompanying statements of financial position.

A summary of the Corporation's investments, according to the fair value hierarchy (see Note A6), are as follows at June 30:

The Corporation participates in a contributory retirement plan, which is an Internal Revenue Code Section 403(b) plan, covering all full-time employees, including those under a contract with International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 1228. The Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association, the College Retirement Equities Fund, and Fidelity Investments administer the investment options. All contributions are held in individual employee accounts, and the employee is immediately vested in all funds. Employees eligible for the Corporation's contribution must be at least 21 years of age, employed by the Corporation for one year and contribute a minimum of 2% of gross salary. The Corporation generally contributes an additional 5% of the employee's gross salary to the plan. Total retirement expenses charged to operations relating to the plan were approximately $92,000 in 2021 and $95,000 in 2020.

Supplemental benefit plan

The Corporation sponsors an unfunded noncontributory defined supplemental benefit insurance plan that is subject to modification or elimination at the exclusive discretion of the Corporation's Board of Directors, and is not a "vested" benefit. The plan covers employees who were qualified as of June 30, 1999, at which date the plan was frozen, which covers six retired employees and their spouses as of June 30, 2021 and 2020.

The plan provides a fixed quarterly stipend to participants for post-Medicare benefit coverage rather than paying post-Medicare claims. The plan also provides dental care benefits and life insurance coverage for participants.

The recording of benefits in these financial statements in accordance with ASC Topic 715, Compensation - Retirement Benefits, reflects the Corporation's historical practice of maintaining the plan, but is not an acknowledgement of any legal obligation on the part of the Corporation. The liability is based on an actuarial valuation as of the beginning of the year.

A summary of the funded status of the supplemental benefit plan for the Corporation is as follows as of June 30:

	2021	2020
Accumulated benefit obligation	$ 279,230	$ 289,295

Amounts included in "supplemental benefit plan liability – related changes other than the service component of net periodic benefit cost" in the statements of activities of $13,403 and $11,307 was primarily composed of actuarial losses in 2021 and 2020, respectively.

The Corporation leases and licenses building and tower space on leased land (see Note I) and owned property, expiring at various dates, ranging from 2023 to 2025. Certain agreements are cancellable by either party with one year's notice. Some agreements allow for original terms of up to fifteen years with automatic renewal for up to an additional fifteen-year period. Some lease and license amounts are prepaid, and unearned portions are included in deferred revenue. Some agreements call for the return of prepaid amounts in the event the Corporation cancels the agreement, as specifically defined in the agreements.

I) OPERATING LEASES (AS LESSEE)

Operating facility – accrued expenses, non-current

The Corporation entered into a noncancelable operating lease agreement on February 1, 2019 for its operating facilities in Winooski, Vermont through June 2024 with two five-year renewal periods available to extend the lease term to June 2034. Base monthly rental payments of $29,220 were required from June 2019 through July 2020. Thereafter, base monthly rent is $34,300 and will increase annually on each July 1 by the percentage increase in the applicable Consumer Price Index, as defined, subject to a minimum increase of 2% and a maximum increase of 4%.

Rent expense is recognized on a straight-line basis over the life of the lease, which includes the expected renewal periods, commencing with the occupancy period, which began in May 2019, at approximately $38,000 per month. The timing of the recognition of rent expense and payments for rent resulted in an accrued liability, non-current, as of June 30, 2021 and 2020 of approximately $205,300 and $157,500, respectively.

The agreement also provides for the reimbursement by the landlord of $286,493 of costs incurred by the Corporation related to the leased property (Landlord's Contribution). The Corporation recognized the Landlord's Contribution as an accrued expense and is amortizing the contribution as additional rent expense on a straight-line basis over the term of the agreement, including the renewal periods, as a reduction to rent expense of approximately $1,600 per month. The unamortized portion of the Landlord Contribution was approximately $246,000 and $264,000 at June 30, 2021 and 2020, respectively.

Amounts recognized as a charge to operations, net of the amortization of the Landlord's Contribution, were approximately $436,000 in 2021 and $474,000 in 2020.

Other operating leases

The Corporation leases land for mountaintop transmitters and the land upon which the studio and administrative facilities are located (ground lease) from unrelated third parties under various operating leases with varying expiration dates. Expiration dates range from September 2023 through December 2025, and the ground lease expires December 2060. Annual payments range from $2,100 to $56,800. Certain agreements are cancelable by the lessee according to the terms of the agreement. As of June 30, 2021, non-cancellable future minimum lease payments are approximately $169,900 in 2022, $171,200 in 2023, $137,800 in 2024, $105,700 in 2025, $47,600 in 2026. Rental expense for related leases charged to operations approximated $196,000 in 2021 and $194,000 in 2020.

The Corporation is required to return the properties "to a natural state" in the event that the Corporation terminates the leases. No amounts have been included in the financial statements for these costs due to the uncertainty of timing and the cost is not estimable at June 30, 2021 and 2020.
